

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD RALLY.

The C.G.I.T. and the Tuxis and Trail Rangers boys groups of Didsbury turned out in full to the Young People's rally on Friday evening at the United Church conducted by Rev. R. W. Hibbert, secretary of the Religious Education Council of Alberta, and Tom Haythorne, boys work secretary. Unfortunately there were only a few visitors from other towns.

The supper, which was supplied and served by the girls and boys was very fine. It was followed by a sing-song and then the boys and girls divided into two groups, the seniors under the leadership of Mr. Hibbert and the Juniors under Mr. Haythorne.

Formation of a young people's group here and the question of debates between the groups from other towns in the Presbytery were discussed. Melvin Huget was elected vice-president of the Young People's group of the Red Deer Presbytery.

Mr. Hibbert gave a very inspiring address on the subject, "Comrades by the way."

Mr. Tom Haythorne also gave a short talk on "Aims and ideals," both addresses being thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The rally closed with a service of worship.

SUNDAY EVENING MEETING

On Sunday evening the girls of the C.G.I.T. and the Tuxis boys conducted the meeting in the United Church.

The service was conducted by Chairman Carlton Leeson. The invocation was given by Frank Moyle. Joyce Moyle gave the bible reading, which was taken from Luke 2, verses 40 to 52.

Dorothy Ranton and Dorothy Huget sang the duet "O Master let me walk with Thee" and Melvin Huget gave the prayer.

After the offering the choir of the C.G.I.T. and the Tuxis sang the C.G.I.T. Hymn was sung as an anthem.

The addresses, which were based on the four-fold program of the groups, were given by Bill Cathro, "Devotional"; Margaret Gieger, "Intellectual"; Ormond Phillipson, "Physical" and Nelda Huget "Social."

The closing benediction was given by Geo. H. Hawkes.

The girls and boys were pleased to see the church so well filled.

The Town Council this year have donated to the Rinks Ltd, the sum of $150, which will entitle the children to free skating on Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m. and on Saturday from 2 to 6 p.m.

After spending a week in the west country, Ed. Ford and Bert Fisher each returned home with a nice deer.

Preparing for Christmas.

The first of next week we enter upon the month of December and the fact can be no longer put aside that Christmas is getting very close. It is undoubtedly a time of worry and a great deal of work.

One of the most troublesome questions is that of selecting and selecting presents. If people would only start about securing their gifts in time it would be much easier. Easier for the purchaser and infinitely easier for the business people.

Christmas goods can be secured right now as easily as weeks hence. Buy a little at a time and wrap the gifts up. You can even put the greetings inside, address the packages and put them away. Then when Christmas eve comes and there are so many forgotten things to do, there will be a lot off your mind.

Working yourself to death and working the clerks off their feet around Christmas time might be avoided if the Christmas question was as carefully arranged as the business question.

FIVE GAITED HORSES ARE BRED IN ALBERTA

Some time ago I read an article in the Alberta Farmer re five-gaited Kentucky saddle horses being shown at the Toronto Royal. It might be of interest to some of your readers to know that these horses, although not as well known as they should be, are being bred in Alberta.

I have bred these Kentucky saddle horses for over fifteen years, and find them a great deal more comfortable to ride than any other horse. In the show ring at the local fair they create more interest than any other livestock.

Under the present rules of judging saddle horses I sometimes have a little trouble in keeping some of my best horses to a straight trot, as it requires intensive training to keep a natural gaited horse to the trot. Have at present a seventeen months' old stud colt that racks to beat a full house. Other breeders are W. E. Pixley, of Red Deer, to whom I sold several mares and colts, using for a sire the great show horse Noel Gaines, 3722, whom I imported from New York. Had Mr. Pixley show him at Red Deer in both thoroughbred and standard bred classes, taking first in each class. Also sold a fine stud colt to Mr. C. Thompson, of Runsey, who intends to breed saddle horses. Also one to Mr. Paul Allen, of Airdrie, who has two Artist Montrose mares.

Mr. W. J. Fulkert, of Didsbury, and his father, L. B. Fulkert, imported from Missouri four fine fillies, also a beautiful stud, The Dare, to whom I mated four of my best mares this season.

If you were to call at the Fulkert Farm on a Sunday morning during the summer you would find Mr. Fulkert and his boys busy cleaning the horses just as they would at a show in Kentucky or Missouri. As many as seventy persons have been known to visit the farm on a single Sunday afternoon to see the horses go their gaits. A more beautiful sight would be hard to find. We, myself and family, drove down one Sunday recently from Delburne, a distance of over 75 miles, and enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon.

Rosebud Flour Mills Have Incorporated.

The Rosebud Flour Mill Co. Ltd. recently incorporated under a Dominion charter with a capitalization of $75,000.

The Rosebud Flour Mills has been established here for the last 21 years and has been run periodically by Mr. M. Weber since its inception.

During that period Mr. Weber has been making experiments with flours from local and other wheats, also in balanced rations in hog feed, dairy feed and chicken mash of all kinds, and now reached a stage which warrants an expansion of the business.

Fifty per cent of the capital has already been subscribed and the balance is now on the market. Half of the required capital will be used for operation and the remainder, when subscribed will be used in research work in the development of the various flours and feeds.

It is the intention of the company, if sufficient capital is subscribed, to operate the mill continuously.

The Rosebud Mill has been a great asset to the community. Mr. Weber says that even under great handicap it has made a saving of over $60,000 since the war, and that with increased capital more than double could have been accomplished.

Didsbury, Olds and Carstairs have always been noted as mixed farming districts and much of the feeds produced might be fed with better results when properly balanced. Mill feed, as a rule are scarce, but can be used to make other feeds more valuable.

A good mill, well equipped, well financed and well managed can and does bring big gains to the district in more ways than one. The direct dividend it pays is the least consideration.

Anglicans Give Successful Concert.

The Opera House was crowded on Monday night, when the members of the Social Service of St. Cyprian's Church gave a very successful concert.

An interesting program of vocal and musical numbers, readings, sketches and novelty numbers was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience and numerous encores were given.

A Maypole dance was given by the younger boys and girls and "A Chapter from Tom Sawyer" given by a group of boys assisted by Mrs. Burrows was one of the outstanding features of the entertainment.

Rev. H. Clay, the chairman, expressed his appreciation to all who had assisted in the entertainment.

The Problem of Narcotics

The evil of narcotics is one that strikes both directly and indirectly at the home.

There are about 8,000 drug addicts, or dope fiends, as they are more commonly called, in Canada. They consume, and here is an even more startling figure, about $80,000 worth of drugs every day.

The danger from the widespread use of narcotics in Canada, is that drug addicts breed drug addicts; each one is an agency of evil who will try to pull other victims into the mire in which he finds himself.

The four main drugs that have assailed Canada are opium, morphine, cocaine and heroin. Opium is the juice of the white poppy, cultivated mainly in Hindustan and Asiatic Turkey, and thickened by evaporation.

Opium would not be so important to us, but for the fact that other drugs that are used most extensively in Canada, come from opium.

About one hundred and twenty-five years ago, a French chemist found that he could produce another drug, morphine, which was named after the god of sleep, Morpheus, from opium.

Sixty-five years later another chemist, this one an Austrian, found by experimenting with cocoa leaves that he could produce cocaine.

Just thirty years ago, a German chemist found he could take from opium still another drug, which was called heroin. It is three or four times stronger than morphine, and is blamed largely for the increase in drug usage on this continent since the war. At first heroin was not believed to be habit-forming, and was used on that assumption. But two years after its discovery, it was found to be as bad, if not worse, in getting a grip on its victim. It has been denounced by the medical profession as not at all necessary for their purpose. But it continues in use throughout the world, a dangerous drug, without any redeeming feature or excuse for its existence.

All these three drugs, morphine, cocaine and heroin, are white powders, bitter to the taste and soluble in water. All are deleterious, both mentally and physically. The habitual use of any of them will bring death with inexorable certainty. Opium is the slowest to kill, morphine, the next, while heroin is the most rapid of all.

For example, to compare the drug habit with the liquor habit; five ounces of alcohol is considered a fatal dose. Five ounces of morphine taken at one time will kill fifteen hundred men.

Chemistry has given us these drugs, and passed them on to the medical profession. The doctors used them, with the exception of heroin, to assuage pain. But mankind was not satisfied with that, and the use of these drugs spread to people who did not need them. Now the combined wisdom of chemistry, medicine, and governments, is not sufficient to strike down the peril.

There are fantastic stories at times of people who have become drug addicts because they were given one of these drugs in a time of need, and that one administration made them addicts. Those are very rare cases, and hardly need to be taken into consideration. The use of drugs is spread about almost entirely by people who profit greatly by creating other addicts.

Thousands of tons of poisonous drugs are consumed every year by the human race. Less than one per cent. of the total consumption is necessary for medicinal purposes.

Before heroin came into such general use, adults were, in the main, the only addicts. The dealers in heroin, however, recruit among their customers young children. The average age of the heroin addict is about 22 years of age, which means that he must have become addicted some years before he was twenty.

Again to compare the drug habit with the liquor habit: It takes some time of regular drinking before a youth becomes a regular drunkard. Not so with heroin. An ounce of heroin can make two thousand addicts within a week. As well as that, a drunkard sometimes serves as a useful example with which to point the warning finger. In fact a drunkard as a general rule, will advise others to keep away from the stimulant that caused his downfall. Not so the heroin addicts. He begins right away to drag others into the net. He is used as a recruiting agent for the operators who are making the money. The more heroin he gets, the more he craves. He is told that in order to get more of it, he must introduce more customers. And so the peril spreads.

Preserving Old Windmills

Germany is preserving its old windmills because of their historic value and their picturesque touch to the scenery. To raise funds for their preservation many of the windmills have been fitted up as rest houses, where young people on walking tours can get a night's lodging at a low rate.

Didn't Interest Him

An actor, who, because of his wandering profession had seldom paid his income tax was at last discovered by the authorities, who promptly sent him a return to complete.

The actor kept it for a few days and sent it back with a little note:

"Thank you very much, but I don't wish to join this affair."

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Fighting Forest Fires At Night

Miner's Carbide Lamp Used By Rangers In Work Of Extinguishing Fires

Equipment is now in use by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, which enables rangers to fight forest fires at night, when such work is most valuable, owing to the fires dying down at dark. The chief item of special equipment is the miners' carbide lamp, which is attached to the fire-fighter's cap and so is located just above his forehead. This leaves his hands free to work, and gives the light just where desired, both for travel in reaching the fire and for the work of extinguishing the fire.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Anaemia Responsible For Most Of The Ills Of Girls and Women

Medical science shows that most of the ills that afflict growing girls and women are due to the fact that the blood is either poor in quality or deficient in quantity. This anaemia is the cause of low spirits, languidness, the poor appetite, breathlessness, and the aching backs that make life a burden for so many women. There is no need for any woman to suffer in this way, for all the miseries of anaemia can be quickly banished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is an established fact that these pills create an abundance of new rich blood—their wonderful reputation is based on that.

Thousands of formerly weak and ailing women have cheerfully testified to the fact that they owe their restoration to good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. One of these is Mrs. Napoleon Gallant, Tignish, P.E.I., who says: "I am among those who can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began using them I was in an extremely nervous condition. I could not sleep, neither could I eat, and was constantly growing weaker. I got medicine from a doctor, but it did not seem to meet my condition, and then, on the recommendation of a friend, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had taken a couple of boxes there was no doubt they were helping me. I continued their use until I had taken six or seven boxes when I was again in the best of health. I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house, and if any member of the family feels run-down the pills soon put them in good condition."

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old-time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Power Of Sound Waves

If Highly Pitched They Will Do Much Damage

Living creatures can be struck dead by sound waves too highly pitched for the human ear to hear them, writes T. C. Bridges. These high frequency waves—called super-sonics—have been tried on animals and produced instant death. The sound appears to shatter the blood corpuscles, and death is as sure and sudden as if the creatures had been struck by lightning. Sound can do many things which seem mysterious and almost miraculous. For instance, fire can be extinguished by sound. Some little time ago Mr. Charles Kellogg, of California, gave a demonstration of the power of sound over flame, and by drawing a violin bow across a piece of aluminium extinguished a burning gas jet at fifty feet. Sound vibrations can not only break a wine-glass but can damage a building. It is suspected that the deep, vibrating notes of organs can cause vibrations which may actually weaken the structure of a church or cathedral. The very latest wonder of sound is to make an aeroplane light up the aerodrome at which it is arriving merely by a note of its siren. This was done recently at Newark, New Jersey.

Joint Branch Line Programme Announced

Thornton and Beatty Publish Plans For Alberta Railways

Announcement has been made jointly by Sir Henry Thornton and E. W. Beatty, of the branch line programme to be commenced in 1930 by the Northern Alberta railways. The presidents of the two transcontinental systems, which jointly own the Alberta railways, point out that under the agreement for acquisition the purchasers undertook to build within five years sixty miles of branch lines, in addition to the branches under construction by the government of Alberta at the time the purchase was made.

To meet the traffic needs of the district, and in fulfillment of statements previously made, the directors of the Northern Alberta railways have, therefore, decided to recommend to the government and to the directors of the Canadian Pacific, the commencement in 1930 of a line from Hythe to Rolla, a distance of fifty miles, and from Fairview westerly, a distance of 15 miles. In addition, the Northern Alberta railways will, during the coming year, undertake to investigate the traffic possibilities of an extension west from Spirit River and from a point at or near Grimshaw, to serve the Battle River district in which considerable settlement has taken place.

The programme announced is of considerable magnitude and confirms the statement already issued that in the opinion of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific companies, the most important and immediate work in the development of the Peace River area is the construction of branch line mileage.

To Honor Pioneer

Premier Tolmie, Of British Columbia, To Be Present At Celebration Of Mount Rainier's Discovery

Nearly 100 years ago Dr. William Fraser Tolmie, physician of the Hudson's Bay Company, at Fort Vancouver, Washington, trudged up the Puyallup River to Mount Rainier, the first white man to reach a peak now known as a scenic resort.

In 1933, the centenary of this expedition, Dr. Tolmie's son, premier of British Columbia, will be the guest of honor at a celebration of Mount Rainier's discovery.

The premier has accepted the invitation of the Rainier National Park advisory board to take the leading part in the ceremony a little over three years hence.

Canadian Fliers Organize

First Convention Of Its Kind Held At Fort William

With nearly 20 delegates from coast to coast in attendance, the first all-Canada aviation convention was held recently at Fort William. J. A. Sully, president of the Winnipeg Flying Club, was chosen chairman of the initial meeting.

The first business of the convention was the organization of a central body of the flying clubs throughout the Dominion, to be known officially as the "Canadian Flying Club Association." This association will be official spokesman of the various clubs throughout the Dominion, and will attempt to solve many of the problems which today face aviators from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Delegates from the several clubs will be known as the board of governors and this body annually will choose a president, five vice-presidents, one honorary secretary and an honorary treasurer. The vice-presidents will be regional officers, from the following districts:

British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Thunder Bay district, Ontario east of Thunder Bay and Quebec and the Maritimes.

Reason Prince Sold Hunters

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. For a tablet or two of Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgia, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Aspirin might be harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago.

It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Aspirin for immediate relief.

League of Nations Society Accomplishing Good Work, But Handicapped By Lack of Funds

With the visit of Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald to the United States and Canada, and the momentous decisions which will result from that visit public attention has been concentrated on the subject of world peace.

In considering this subject much credit is given to the League of Nations, in Geneva, and the great work it is doing. This is only right and the more the ideals of the League are brought before the public, the more likely is it that still further practical results will follow its effects. But in Canada and elsewhere it is only fair that some credit should come to the home societies which are actively propagating League ideals in their several countries.

In Canada there has existed for some nine years an organization well and favorably known as the League of Nations Society of Canada. Handicapped by lack of funds, by comparative public indifference and an inadequate staff, it has continuously attempted to be an influence for good in all parts of the country and to zealously battle for the ideals for which it was founded.

Through the co-operation of the press of Canada, whose leading executives recognize the importance of its campaign, some publicity has been given to the yearly effort of this organization to increase its membership, but we feel that more continuous co-operation both by press and public would be most opportune at the present time.

Geneva is far away, and many of the issues with which it deals are too complicated for the average man to readily understand. No organization is more in need of domestic interpretation, and that work is being carried out with praiseworthy diligence.

It is not too much to say that such an organization would be a fit subject for a perpetual endowment which would relieve it of the necessity of canvassing for the comparatively small sum which it requires to carry on its immensely valuable work.—The Fredericton Daily Mail.

Shipment Of 18 Animals Sent From Moose Jaw To New Brunswick

In order to try out the market for certain types of horses in New Brunswick, a shipment of 18 animals was consigned from Moose Jaw to the Maritime Province by the Saskatchewan Livestock Pool and the Department of Agriculture. Under the arrangements entered into between the Livestock Pool and the Federal and Provincial Governments, the Pool assembles the shipments and the two Governments assist in promoting the sale of the horses. Larger shipments are to be made in the near future.

Imperial Farmers' Union

Federation To Encourage the Consumption Of Empire Products

The National Farmers' Union of Scotland have prepared the formation of an Imperial Farmers' Union or Federation to encourage the consumption of Empire products, to eliminate competition between different parts of the Empire, to stabilize quantities and prices, to control surpluses and other similar objects.

As this was in line with the policy of the United Farmers' of Canada, Saskatchewan section, the matter was taken up by the executive of the organization at Saskatoon and the following resolution passed: "That in the opinion of the executive such affiliation could be made if we had a national organization in Canada or a co-ordinating agency, and that until such an organization is formed we endeavor to establish contact by way of correspondence and literature with the National Farmers' Union of Scotland."

In a letter received at the U.F.C. headquarters, the secretary of the Scottish union expressed surprise that farmers had no national organization in Canada, and hoped that it would be possible to co-ordinate the work of the various provincial organizations through a central executive which to begin with, might act in an advisory capacity.

Commenting on the proposal, Frank Ellason, secretary of the U.F.C. said: "Everywhere throughout the Empire there seems to be a move towards closer relationships in agriculture for the control of surpluses and for the stabilization of prices and thus place agriculture on a sound business basis. The U.F.C. administration is anxious to develop this movement and will do all they can to bring about a co-ordination of the provincial organizations as they realize more than ever before that farm products must be controlled by the farmers themselves in order to stabilize prices on a basis that will make agriculture prosperous."

John M. Imrie Tells Easterners Of Development In the West

Speaking at a joint dinner of the Canadian and Rotary clubs at Sherbrooke, Que., John M. Imrie, managing editor of the Edmonton Journal, described what he calls "Canada's New Northwest," and told of the active progress of that section of the Dominion, stretching northwest of Lake Superior, and basic causes of the new movement—the lure of mineral wealth as well as agricultural and forest development.

"It has to do with new discoveries of oil and gas," said Mr. Imrie, "with new trade routes and new foreign markets, and with economic changes that are making for decentralization of industry."

Seed Oats To Be Supplied

Farmers In Saskatchewan Dry Area Should Order Early

That arrangements were made some time ago for the purchasing of seed oats for farmers in the drought affected districts of Saskatchewan, is announced by Hon. W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture, who stated that a considerable portion of the oats required for this purpose have already been bought and deliveries are being made to the Canadian Government Elevator, at Moose Jaw. R. M. Johnson, of Pasqua, acting as seed purchasing commissioner, has represented the government in these transactions, but is not purchasing fodder as has been reported in the press.

Investigation reveals the fact that while there is in Saskatchewan a sufficient quantity of oats to meet feed requirements, there does not appear to be sufficient seed oats, consequently purchases have been made in the province of Alberta in addition to those which have been and are being purchased in Saskatchewan.

The Department of Agriculture is receiving offers of seed oats grown in Saskatchewan and is making selections from these of quantities suitable for seed purposes. It is not expected that there will be any difficulty in getting a sufficient supply of seed oats if oats which are suitable for seed are used for that purpose instead of for fodder. It is also expected that prices to farmers in the affected areas will be within reasonable bounds for grades No. 1 and No. 2 seed. The department will be in a position shortly to fill orders for carloads of seed oats purchased by rural municipalities.

The minister stated also that in his opinion it would be well for farmers to make arrangements at an early date to provide for their seed supply in order to avoid possible disappointment.

Spoiled the Show

The Dramatic Society was presenting an historical play, and one of the newly enrolled members had been assigned a part with exactly one line to speak. He was the headman, and arrayed in all the glory of black tights and mask, he strode on to the centre of the stage and announced: "My lord, my lord, I have beheaded the maid."

"Oh, you 'ave, 'ave you?" retorted another small-part man in the guise of the cruel king. "Well, allow me to tell you that you've messed up the 'ole blooming show. You've been and done it two acts too soon."

Jap Diplomats Land

"The destinies of Canada and Japan lie together in the great Pacific Ocean," declared Hon. Iyemasa Tokugawa, K.C.V.O., first minister to represent the Emperor of Japan in Canada, when he reached the Dominion on board Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of France," at Vancouver, recently. With him is photographed Togo Fukuma, Japanese Consul-General. Mr. Tokugawa is the son of Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, and a man of long experience in diplomacy. He was on his way to Ottawa to present his credentials to the Canadian Government from the Japanese Emperor.

Details of the projected trans-Atlantic air service from Canada to England via Greenland, are contained in information received by the Civil Aviation Branch of the Department of National Defence, at Ottawa.

The scheme, which calls for an elaborate outlay of airports and radio beacons from Winnipeg to Baker Lake, and from Baker Lake to Cape Dyer, in Canada, is advanced by Warren Scholl, a consulting engineer from Chicago, who is now staying in Winnipeg.

Mr. Scholl is seeking to promote the scheme, which calls for a daily service between Chicago and Croydon, using Winnipeg as the main stopping point on this continent. He plans to operate a shuttle service between New York and Winnipeg, as well as between the western city and other important population centres.

From Cape Dyer it is planned that planes should fly to Southern Greenland where an airport would be established on the level surface of the ice cap. From Greenland planes would fly to Iceland, to the Faroe Islands, and over Ireland to Croydon.

Mr. Scholl is seeking to organize three separate companies, one in the United States, one in Canada, and the third in Great Britain, which would bear the cost of the whole scheme between them.

His plan calls for the floating of separate loans in each country and for the exchange of blocks of stock between the three countries involved, so that profit and loss would be equally distributed.

Planes used in the service would be amphibians, of all-metal construction. Pilots would be guided over the entire route by radio beacons, which, Mr. Scholl thinks, would defeat the hazards of bad weather flying. Supersensitive altimeters would enable pilots to make blind landings with an accuracy of four feet, considered by authorities to be a safe margin. The route would not be lighted, although airports would be equipped with the most modern of lighting equipment.

Revenue would be derived through the carrying of passengers, mail and express. The machines would have a capacity of not more than 20 passengers, while a system of deferred express rates, something like cable rates, would be instituted to make up pay loads on days when the passenger quota was small.

Where the Rain Goes

Experiments Show Largest Amount Returns To Atmosphere Through Evaporation

Where does the rain go? A three-year study by the United States Geological Survey has answered this question. The Pomperaug Basin, in Connecticut, which is believed to be typical of the country at large, was given intensive study. The results, says Popular Science Monthly, showed that of the annual rainfall of 44 inches, 21 inches flow out through streams. The other 23 inches return to the atmosphere. Evaporation from the soil, from water surfaces, and from the leaves of trees account for these tons of moisture that enter the air.

GAS TAX TO STAY

The tax on gasoline, made equitable and fairly uniform, is here to stay. That seems to be a common belief and is being supported by a great volume of evidence.

The old road tax, which was so popular a generation or two ago, has virtually disappeared in the United States. In Peru it is still in effect. Men between twenty and fifty are required to work on the road twelve days each year, or to hire a substitute. This old-fashioned method of obtaining road funds, loose and inefficient in operation, was based on the principle that everyone benefits from the roads.

For the constant road user the benefit was obvious. For the occasional driver the benefit was there, too, although in a lesser degree. But didn't the horse and wagon transport the things that went on the table, or the fuel and the clothing that kept the little towns alive?

The automobile has changed all this. The gasoline tax has been selected by practically all of the States and provinces as the most desirable method of obtaining funds to develop and maintain good roads. No state now collects less than two cents a gallon on gasoline while Florida and Carolina have six cents.

Are the gasoline taxes so high that they are restraining road travel? It does not seem so. While the total gasoline tax collected last year was $1,000,000 a day, the burden on the average automobile owner was relatively small. It has been figured out that the average motorist used no more than 400 gallons a year. At two cents a gallon it would be only an $8 tax or at six cents the rate would

BAN ON SIGNBOARDS

The death knell of signboards has been sounded through the new regulations issued by the provincial government of Alberta. These new rules are to be enforced shortly and will be welcomed by motorists who have long protested against billboards defacing the landscape and marring the beauty of driving.

One important clause states that no signs can be erected within two miles of any city or town. Others have to be back a required distance from the highway, of a certain size and at least a thousand feet apart.

With the mediums of publicity and advertising in newspapers and magazines, there is no need of thousands of signs along highways and at every turn. Many of these completely spoil the scenic view and are objected to by motorists, either on the grounds of the landscape being disfigured or in the interests of safe driving.

Women's clubs and advertising agencies in all parts of the country have declared that the outside advertising signboards should be eliminated. Their representations have been fully endorsed by motorists, who feel that Alberta, in taking the step it has, again sets the pace for other parts of this country.

Eton College, England, has been established nearly 500 years.

For a vacancy in Toronto fire brigade, 200 applications have been received. There seems to be no lack of young men who want to go to blazes.

THE growth of the Bank of Montreal has closely coincided with the gradual development of Canada from a small colony to a great Dominion.

In the Bank's westward advance to the Pacific Coast, one of the important links in its trans-continental chain of Branches was formed in 1878 at Winnipeg, when the Bank opened its first Branch west of the Great Lakes.

This forward step, taken seven years before railway communication was opened up between Montreal and Winnipeg, made available to the incoming population on the prairies the stabilizing co-operation of a strong, conservative and at the same time energetic financial institution.

Of the Bank's 667 Branches, 14 are in Winnipeg and 188 in the Prairie Provinces.

BUY A TICKET

The season approaches when various organizations in the town will be setting forth round the town to sell tickets in aid of "their own pet charity." As a rule townspeople respond very generally to these numerous appeals. A man may not feel particularly interested in the cause which is being promoted today; but, on the other hand, he knows that tomorrow or next week either he or his wife or his children will probably be urging support for their special weakness. So, as a rule, he digs down and buys a ticket regardless.

However, there is one point in this connection that might be improved upon. Ticket selling might be conducted on a more methodical basis, with less overlapping. Too often one part of the town is canvassed to distraction while other parts escape without a touch.

The down town section usually gets its full share of attention. If a man can afford to buy, he usually does so on first approach, and intermittent urging makes him no more amenable. He buys a ticket the first day, but that does not make him immune. For succeeding days and until the event is over he must stop work repeatedly to smile and bow and say: "No, I've already bought, thank you."

Now, on the executive of almost every society is some individual with a flair for organization. If he could take the matter over and work out some zone system, distributing his salesmen so that every citizen might be approached once and once only, he would save valuable time for many busy people and dispositions down town would be greatly improved. Certainly quite as good results would be attained.—Vulcan Advocate.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS WIN GREAT PRAISE

Many Mothers Always Keep Them In the House

Thousands of mothers state that they know of no other medicine for little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets—that they always keep the Tablets in the home as a preventive of childhood ailments, or if sickness does suddenly grip their little ones they feel safe with such a remedy at hand.

Concerning the use of the Tablets Mrs. Donat Plouffe, Tinglewick, Que., writes:—"I have nothing but praise for Baby's Own Tablets. They are the only medicine I have ever given my two little ones and I am glad to state that the Tablets have always kept them in perfect health. I feel so safe with the Tablets that I always keep a box in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever and make the cutting of teeth painless. The Tablets are absolutely safe, being guaranteed free from all injurious drugs. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Crossed River On Skis

Vienna Men Claim Speed Of Twelve Miles An Hour

A most amusing spectacle recently greeted the spectators on the London Embankment, when, without any warning, they suddenly came across two men, clad in bathing suits, attempting to cross the Thames by means of water skis. It did not take many minutes for a wondering crowd to collect, and then, urged on by cheers and laughter, the two men, Student Franz Hirsch and Professor Michael Mitter, both from Vienna, set off on their journey across the river and back.

The skis were made of basket-work frames, and covered with waterproof. The wearer carries a small paddle with which he propels himself along. Apparently they answer their purpose well, and the two wearers claimed that they had achieved up to twelve miles per hour on the river Danube.

There is no poisonous ingredient in Holloway's Corn Remover, and it can be used without danger or injury.

Precision In Levelling

Only Slight Error Made In Running Line Of Levels 3,647 Miles

In a line of precise levels run across the continent from mean sea level on the Atlantic to mean sea level on the Pacific, the engineers of the Geodetic Survey of Canada obtained an apparent difference of elevation of only about six inches. On the assumption that the mean sea levels of the two oceans are about the same, this indicates that only the above slight error was made in running a line of levels 3,647 miles in length.

Washable Shoes

Cotton Footwear Said To Be More Comfortable Than Leather

It won't be long now until the ladies will take their shoes off, give them a few scrapes on the washboard, and hang them out to dry.

Washable cotton shoes were among the most interesting exhibits at the fashion show of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers held in Boston, Mass.

The shoes in addition to being washable, will be much lighter and more comfortable than leather, exhibitors said. They are made of sudanette and sudanette faille—new cotton fabrics—and will have heels built on thin leather soles. The uppers, in pastel shades, will be bordered with a fringe of beaufair embroidery.

Unnecessary Questions

Policemen of London are secretly complaining that they must be too versatile. In a recent police examination they were asked, among other things, how they would repair a stained floor in a house, make a three-legged stool or arrange a film show for children between 10 and 15.

Change In Fashions

Use Of Hooks and Eyes Will Revive Old Industry

How a slight change in fashions may affect whole industries is aptly illustrated in the recent decision of dress designers that "slip-on" frocks are to be replaced with the "old-fashioned" bodice moulded close to the figure. This means, according to an item in London papers of recent issue, that hooks and eyes must be used. And with the return of hooks and eyes a score or more firms are dusting off old machinery and getting ready to fill up almost forgotten pay rolls.

Before the war women in Great Britain alone used 2,880,000,000 hooks and eyes every year. Two-thirds of them were made in that country by some thirty-five firms who manufactured little else. The hook and eye survived the war but the jumper fashion in 1920 killed it. Thousands of workers were dismissed. One Birmingham manufacturer is quoted as exclaiming joyously: "We have had machinery put away for years in the hope that something like this would happen."

And, oh, yes, there is just one little difference between the pre-war hook and eye dress and that of today. The hooks and eyes are now within reach of the wearer. It will not be necessary for husbands to stand by to do the hooking.—Edmonton Journal.

For Detecting Icebergs

Method Perfected By Dr. Barnes Of McGill University

A method of detecting in fog or at night the proximity of icebergs at sea by recording their explosions as they disintegrate has been perfected by Dr. Howard T. Barnes, of McGill University, who has returned from a voyage of experiment off Newfoundland.

Attempts were made with a marine microphone to pick up the sounds of the explosions of the icebergs as they broke in the warmer water, but nothing was heard.

Then an improvised microphone, consisting of a rubber hose with a funnel attached to one end and a sheet rubber placed over it to make it waterproof, was used. It was ascertained that the explosions could be recorded up to a distance of six miles.

New Ruling Bars Younger Women From Canadian Senate

The Ottawa Evening Citizen says: "The flapper vote is a very material factor now in Canada elections and much the larger portion of enfranchised women come from this class, but they are debarred from the Senate despite the decision of the Privy Council as to women's eligibility for senatorial office."

"Among the qualifications for the Upper House, it is found, is one prescribing that anyone appointed must be of the 'full age of thirty years.' This cuts out the really young woman. There is no such prohibition in the House where one of twenty-one can be seated, providing she can get elected."

People Seem To Be Troubled With Health Madness

Articles are already appearing in daily papers on how to conquer "autumn depression." They follow quickly on tips for overcoming summer slackness. Very soon we shall be told the best way of relieving winter gloom, and after that we shall look eagerly for a specific against spring dejection. Every season has its disability. We are rapidly becoming health mad. The great majority seem to be unable to make up their minds what to eat, drink, wear, or do without assistance.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrel, the cigarette girl, but he does not know that. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When their baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend, taking the child. Molly consents to a last farewell between Al and Junior before she sails for France. After this takes place at a park entrance Al walks towards the center of the city, completely broken by his tragic loss. He plans to leave the Broadway night life and disappear. The lights of evening flick the sky.

CHAPTER XXI.

But, in order to live, Al knew he must create a new life for himself. The old life was closed. He felt himself entirely alien to night clubs and the whole Broadway life; if he wrote a song it would be so tragic and filled with pain that no song-publisher or revue producer would want it. No, there was nothing for him to do but disappear from the old haunts.

In a few days, when he had pulled himself together, he would see Cline and collect on his share of the ownership of the Club Bombo. Then—goodbye!

He had reached the end of the park, at 59th Street. How the city roared; the night life was beginning, the life of which he had been a living part only a short time ago. He glanced at his watch—almost six o'clock. They were ordering all the visitors ashore from the Ile de France; in a few moments the gang-plank would be lifted and the big floating hotel of a liner would pull slowly from the dock.

Days passed; and Broadway saw no more of Al Stone. Where had he gone? His friends asked Billy Cline, his former business partner, but Billy could only shake his head sadly and say he didn't know. Marcus wanted Al to write some new numbers for a revue he had in rehearsal, but there was no Al to be found.

"What do you think's become of him?" asked Marcus of another songwriter.

"The river?" suggested the composer.

"No," Marcus shook his head vigorously. "I don't think Al would take

Woman Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ont.—"I am willing to answer letters from other women, to tell them the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. I cannot be thankful enough for the benefits I received during the change of life. I do housework and my troubles made me unfit to work. A friend advised me to try the Vegetable Compound. I felt great relief at once, began to regain my appetite, and my nerves got better. I will recommend your medicine to all with troubles like I had."—Mrs. JOHN BENSON, 162 N. his own life. He loves his boy too much. He'll live for that boy—you'll see. He may slip terribly, but hope for his boy will keep him going somewhere, somehow. We can't tell—he may be perfectly all right; he may have gone on a world cruise to forget, or he may have gone to the western country for a while.

So the conjectures passed from mouth to mouth, up and down the White Way. But Al was still in New York, living in a cheap hotel, wearing shabby clothes, his money in the bank, forgotten. He was a shadow of his former self. He walked the streets by day and night, occasionally turning in to sleep. But always he stayed away from the fashionable streets and the Broadway section. He developed a terrible dread that he might meet some of his friends and he kept a constant, furtive lookout for familiar figures. If he saw one he quickly crossed the street, turned the corner and disappeared.

He was still searching desperately for a plan whereby he could rebuild his life on some new basis. But that could not be done, because he was definitely of the night club life. He had become a singing waiter while still in his teens—the cabaret life was the only one he understood. He could only wander—through the Ghetto, along the waterfront, through Little Italy. He made friends with odd characters—fish peddlers, park bums, old Irish cabbies. But always he was drifting downward.

Then came the day when he happened to glance across the street and saw a face he knew. Surely that was Grace, who used to be a cigarette girl at Blackie Joe's place near the Village. As she stared intently at him Al dodged rapidly round the nearest corner.

Grace's eyes followed Al in astonishment as he hurried around the corner and disappeared. At her first glimpse of him she had not been sure of his identity; it was a year since she had seen him and during that year he had almost become a different person in appearance. His lithe, self-confident walk was gone, his clothes were old and nondescript, his face was thinner and the cheerful kindly glow in his eyes had vanished.

Nevertheless the man who stared at her in sudden recognition for a moment was Al—she was sure of it. She walked back to the corner and followed the direction he had taken. But either Al moved faster than she or he had darted up an alley, for she saw no sign of him. Thoughtfully she retraced her steps, her mood and expression sobered by the tragic implications of the sight she had just witnessed. So that was Al, breezy, wise-cracking, generous Al—the man who had been the hero of her girlhood three years ago, the man she had loved so devotedly! That was the youthful singing waiter whose rapid rise to fame had been one of the romances of Broadway and whose disappearance into obscurity had been one of the mysteries of the Street of Lights.

Grace had followed Al's career with the keenest attention from the fateful time when he left Blackie's night club until recently. She knew every story of his triumphs, every version of his disastrous marriage, as they were gossiped about in cabaret circles, uptown and down, and as they appeared in newspapers and theatrical weeklies. For a year after Al left Blackie's her love for him had remained, first a throbbing recollection within her, then a faint murmur from the past.

But after he ceased to visit Blackie's and became so definitely a figure belonging to Broadway, this spirit of love became like the last note of an echo—it seemed to pass away lightly. Before that he had been a part of her life, afterward he was just a graceful and vague figure who had once stirred her as no man had been able to do since that time.

Grace had stayed on at Blackie Joe's. She had no scintillating talent to carry her to the peaks of Broadway success; she could not sing and dance professionally. She possessed a lovely and delicate beauty, unswerving loyalty, keen intuition, plain common-sense and a frank, unspiced nature. These qualities, while they may be among the most important in life, may not win fame for the persons who possess them.

Grace was obscure, but still she had scored her little successes. After Al was swallowed up by Broadway, Blackie Joe, himself, had kept a kindly eye on her and saw she was protected from the riff-raff among his customers. Soon he had promoted her from the job of cigarette girl and raised her salary. Now she was his assistant manager; she kept track of his accounts and checked the waiters when they carried food and drink to the customers.

Blackie had felt terribly sorry for Grace after Al went off to marry Molly—he was the only living person, with the exception of Grace, herself, who had any conception of the deep love the former cigarette girl had for Al. Blackie often asked himself—Why on earth wasn't Al able to see that? When Blackie read of Molly's desertion he nodded sadly.

Now, as Grace pursued her way, a flood of memories swept across her mind—Al as he used to look in his waiter clothes, Al as he had sung his first love ballad—"Always"—to Molly on the floor of Blackie's club, Al as she had once seen him at an uptown night club, resplendent in fine clothes, Al as she had seen his picture in the papers with Molly and his baby Junior.

Grace still recalled how the news of Junior's arrival had sent a stabbing throb through her heart that she did not understand. Then came an intense longing to see the baby that Al fathered. But that too was a faint memory—now.

It was afternoon and Grace was not due at Blackie's until evening. However, she wanted to tell the night club owner her news, so she changed her course and mounted the familiar, shabby steps. The main room was dark and deserted, but Blackie was in his office. He glanced up as Grace entered.

Send Mail By Rockets

Claimed That In Short Time Mail Will Be Carried By Rocket From Berlin To New York

It is confidently asserted by the German Professor Oberth, that in a short time mail will be sent by rocket from Berlin to New York by a single propulsion. This means that letters thus sent will arrive in New York about a half hour later. The matter is taken so seriously that the American ambassador to Germany was prompted to say: "I must call attention to the fact that our government will insist that life and property be not endangered by the rockets landing. I cannot say what guarantees would be required, but if Professor Oberth asks permission to shoot a rocket to America the state department must be informed." As the American ambassador, Mr. Schurman, is a man of broad intelligence, it may be assumed that his acceptance of the possibility of such a feat is not ridiculous.

Rockets are, seemingly, the newest toys and instruments of a scientific age which prefers to leave nothing to the imagination. Rocketeers will soon be joining racketeers to disturb our peace and to turn the incredible into the commonplace.

John Bull a Poor Advertiser

Discovered That Great German Flying Boat Fitted With Engines Of British Design

When the great German flying boat sailed over Lake Constance the other day with the record human load of 169 persons, the world of aviation properly hailed it for what it appeared to be,—a new triumph in the air for Germany. But all the story was not told at once. Germany may not claim all the triumph. The great craft is fitted with twelve engines, 523 horsepower each, of the British Jupiter design, made in German workshops under British license.

Little, if anything, appears to have been said about these engines until an aviation critic in Great Britain came out with the warning that the flight in question "throws Britain further behind in civil aviation and makes Germany the leader of commercial flight throughout Europe." Then the truth was told. As one Canadian correspondent in London says: "The curious British mentality which finds Britain backward in thousands of ways and foreign countries much more go-ahead has received a rude shock from the discovery about these engines." Once again John Bull has shown himself to be a poor advertiser.—Victoria Daily Times.

Tree Seeds For Empire Reforestation

A valuable Empire service is being carried out by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, in furnishing seed of Douglas fir and other tree species to the British Forestry Commission for its use in reforestation operations in Great Britain. The New Zealand Government also takes large quantities of seed. Practically all the seed thus distributed is extracted at the Forest Service seed-extraction plant at New Westminster, British Columbia.

Little Helps For This Week

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in Thee."—Isaiah xxvi. 3.

Oh, this is blessing, this is rest!
Into Thine arms, O Lord I flee;
I hide me in Thy faithful breast,
And pour out all my soul to Thee.
O tenderness! O truth divine!
Lord, I am altogether Thine.
I have bowed down,—I need not flee,
Peace, peace is mine in trusting Thee!
—Anna Laetitia Waring.

Place your whole trust in the Lord; let Him alone be your fear and your love. He Himself will answer for you, and will do what is best for you. Here you have "No continuing city," and wherever you are you are a stranger and a pilgrim; nor will you ever find rest until you are inwardly united to Christ.—Thomas A. Kempis.

TOWN OF DIDSBURY.NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that a petition has been presented to the Council of the Town of Didsbury under the provisions of the Early Closing Act, praying for the passing of the following closing by-law.

1. The expression of "shop" in the By-Law shall mean and include any premises or place where retail trade is carried on and shall also include the premises or place in which a barber or place in which a barber or other artisan carries on his trade, but the expression "shop" shall not include any premises or place where any of the following businesses are carried on, namely:

Post Office, sale of medicines and medicinal and surgical appliances, sale of refreshments for consumption on the premises, the sale of tobacco or other smokers' requisites, confectionery, garage, feed barns, C.P.R. local offices, and blacksmith shops.

2. No "Shop" shall be kept open for business in the Town of Didsbury nor shall any business be conducted therein after 1 o'clock p.m., on all Wednesdays from the 1st day of January to the 30th of November, both days inclusive in any year.

Provided that this section shall not apply to any week in which a legal holiday is observed.

3. In the case of a shop wherein several trades or businesses are carried on to any one of which this by-law does not apply, such shop may be kept open after the closing hour mentioned in Clause 2 hereof for the purpose of those trades and businesses only to which this by-law does not apply, and any shop so remaining open shall expose in a prominent place on the front door and in a front window a card not less than two feet square on which there shall be printed in English in type not less than one inch high, the following words only: "This shop is closed by law except for the sale of (here detail exempted merchandise)"

4. Any person violating any of the provisions of this By-Law shall be liable on summary conviction to the penalties imposed by the Early Closing Act.

Notice is hereby further given that objections to the petition presented to the Council praying for the passing of such By-Law on the ground that such petition is insufficiently signed or otherwise affecting the validity or sufficiency thereof must be filed with the Secretary-Treasurer, on or before the 29th day of December, 1929, and that if no such objections are filed before the said date the Council will forthwith proceed to pass the said Closing By-Law.

Dated at Didsbury, Alberta, this 26th day of November, 1929.
